

A writing partner for you and your agent.

Most AI tools write in their voice, not yours. Spiral works differently. Give it samples of your writing, connect your channels, and it builds a style that sounds unmistakably like you. Spiral handles the drafts you don't want to write, sharpens the ones you do, and keeps your voice consistent whether you're writing a tweet or a 3,000-word essay.

Most AI writing sounds like AI because it has no fingerprint.

Spiral fixes that with stylometry:

1. It reads what you have already published.
2. It measures your cadence, diction, and favorite openers.
3. It writes the next draft in that exact signature.

3. It writes the next draft in that exact signature.

The secret is Stylometry

Your writing has a fingerprint, and Spiral reads it precisely enough to copy it.

Stylometry is the nearly 200-year-old science of analyzing linguistic patterns to determine authorship. Researchers measure sentence length distributions, punctuation frequency, word choice ratios, and syntactic structures. These patterns hold remarkably stable across a writer's body of work, which is why stylometry resolved disputed authorship in the Federalist Papers, attributed contested Beatles songs, and has held up as evidence in criminal courts. Your prose carries the same kind of quantifiable signature.

Now it's how Spiral helps AI sound less like AI and more like you. ChatGPT and Claude don't have custom stylometrics built in. Spiral does.

The Style Engine analyzes your writing patterns and applies them across every channel, every format. Always on brand. At the speed of AI.
